Western General Electric Co., Ltd. MOTOR SERVICE.

The time is now come when this Company is prepared to furnish power for all purposes, great and small, by means of Electric Motors. These Motors are so low in cost; occupy so little space; are so easily controlled, and are so exceedingly economical in operation that their use will be practically universal as soon as people understand the matter. There is scarcely a home, or a place of business, in which electric power cannot be used to lighten and cheapen labor. Inquiries solicited.

THE RACE MEET.

Thursday, the first day of the Red Deer races, opened sombre and unpropitious. By the time the races should have commenced rain was falling in torrents. Everything was wet and dismal and it looked as though our first annual meet would be a failure. But Friday morning it gradually cleared and by noon the sun was drying things up in fine shape. The races were postponed to Friday and Saturday. Friday afternoon there was a large attendance of citizens and every available space along the sides of the track, and most of the grand stand was occupied by an eager throng intensely interested in a good race. The business places and banks were closed, the Mayor having proclaimed a half holiday for the occasion. The track was a surprise to everybody. While much of the supreme on the highways outside, the track was hard and dry and in beautiful shape for the events on the program. All visiting horsemen were out in praise of the splendid track, claiming it was one of the fastest courses west of Winnipeg. This is due to the fact that while the soil is hard and sandy, it is at the same time easy on the horses' feet and the slopes all seem to be in favor of the drivers.

FIRST DAY

The first race of the meeting brought out a field of 5, Boundary Bay and Clearwater being scratched. Old horsemen said they never saw a better race. Every heat was a race and every race a heat. Sapphire took the 1st heat, Lottie K 2nd, Bermuda Queen 3rd. Bertie K looked like the winner of the 2nd heat but went up in the air on the back stretch and could not catch Sapphire who won in a drive. Alvodie 3rd, Kittie Low 4th. Bertie K took the next three heats and race, Sapphire being close up except in the last when Bermuda Queen took 3rd. Purse was $250. Bertie K took 1st money, Sapphire 2nd, Bermuda Queen 3rd. Time: 1st heat 2:28, 2nd heat 2:25 1-4, 3rd 2:26 3-5, 4th 2:25, 5th 2:27.

The 2.45 Trot or Pace was a three horse three heat race. Miss Chance was scratched leaving Nellie Emmet, Webster and Earlmont and each heat finished in this order. Time: 2:44 1-2, 2:47 1-2, 2:47 1-5. Purse $180 divided in order as above.

The Half mile open Race for $100 purse was a Procession all the way. Leihard 1st, Frits Charm 2nd, Main 3rd, Jesse James 4th. First three divided the money. Some crowding was done by the jockeys around the turns but none were warned. Time: 52 1-2.

The Six Furlong Dash for $100 Purse brought out 5 starters. Garnish and Janeta started under protest of being outlaws.

Janeta won, Garnish 2nd, Zaza 3rd, Chief Aloha 4th. Time: 1:19. The protests were withdrawn later but the management got a wire from Chicago that Garnish was an outlaw so the purse will likely go Janeta 1st, Zaza 2nd, Chief Aloha 3rd.

The half mile Farmers Race for $50 purse was a gift to Jas. Faris, J. M. Marr 2nd with Red Deer and Novellan, owned by E. Donaldson, Pine Lake 3rd. Time: 1:30 each heat.

SECOND DAY.

The big event of the meet, the Free for all, for $300 Purse was easy for Tom Keene, none of the other horses being able to drive him out else a new mark for Alberta tracks might have been set. Each of the three heats finished: Tom Keene 1st, George W 2nd, Clearwater 3rd, Palmgray Bay 4th the money going to the first three. Time 2:22, 2:27, 2:19.

2.35 Trot or Pace, Purse $200 brought out 5 starters, Indian was scratched, 1st heat went to Webster, Nellie Emmet 2nd, Superba 3rd, Time: 2:23, Pay Roll was 2nd heat: Webster 1st, Superba 2nd, Starlight 3rd, Nellie Emmet 4th Time: 2:23. 3rd heat: Nellie Emmet was drawn, Webster 1st, Superba 2nd, Starlight 3rd, Time: 2:33 and the money went as the last heat.

Half-mile Pony 14.2 or under for $100 Purse, 1st heat was won by Tiger Jim, Mead W 2nd, Cetello 3rd, Time: 54 1-2. 2nd heat: Tiger Jim 1st, Cetello 2nd, Mead W 3rd, Time: 53. Money went: Tiger Jim 1st, Mead W 2nd, Maud W 3rd, Alkali Pete was scratched.

Quarter mile Dash for Ponies, Purse $35, was Black Boss all the way, Pinto beat Kate B out of 2nd money. Time 26.

The 1 mile Novelty Running for $100 Purse, $25 each Quarter furnished the only excitement of the meet. Garnish was not allowed to start, leaving three in the race. From the manoeuvring at the Post it was evident that the riders of Leihard and Zaza were trying to do McAbbe who rode Golden Plume. Zaza had the rail Golden Plume next and Leihard the outside. Just after the start Zaza's rider crowded McAbbe right to the outside while Leihard's rider tried to cut in behind to the rail. McAbbe hit Zaza with his whip to force him in and got by, winning the first, second and third quarters when Zaza came on and won the mile. Time: Quarter 26, Half 51, Three quarters 1:20, Mile 1:50. E. Davis Jr. was fined $10 for crowding McAbbe, and McAbbe was fined the same for hitting Zaza.

Notes.

Not bad for the first attempt.

No kick on the track. No kick on the management. Look out for Red Deer races next year, we'll have a good bunch of horses.

"Never saw a better race in my life than the 2.17," said a prominent race man.

A track record of 2.19 for first year of track is not too bad.

Howell, of Pine Lake, has a few bang tails that can win their oats.

Kitty Low is a bad actor at the post but has some speed.

Palmgray Boy, the Innisfail horse, could not keep his feet or he would have got some money in the free for all.

The crowd was very patient at the delays between races, with more experience the management will remedy this in the future.

The McQueen Orchestra got high praise for their creditable performances of the two days.

During the races at Red Deer Mr. Mallory, of Spokane, sold "Little Mince, Jr." to Mr. Ferguson, of Lacombe, for $600.

George Haag is staying over in Red Deer for a few days and will in all probability be taking in the Lacombe meeting. The horses he has here are: General, Sapphire, Ping Pong, The Indian, Superba, Jim Farris, Clearwater, and two colts.

Welliver was a busy man as clerk of the course.

Did you see Dr. Sawyer walking around the track all afternoon shoeing at the fine condition it was in? In fixing it he helped some.

Hats off to the committee who had the track fixed in such perfect condition, McPhee, Botterill, Pidgeon, Welliver and Sawyer all deserve it.

Officers.

Starter A. McPhee; Judges, P. Pidgeon, Red Deer, Hamstock Olds, W. Wilson, Innisfail; Time Keepers, Jacobson, Stephenson, McCutcheon; Clerk of course, Welliver; See, Allan; Weigher, Botterill; Track manager, Dr. Sawyer; flagman, Hill.

Opinions of our track.

"Red Deer Track is first class one of the best in western Canada."—B. Muckle.

"Best track in Alberta."—C. D. Howell.

"Best track in Alberta, nothing will beat it in another year."—Ed Davis.

"The best track I have seen in the province, and first class water. It is a good place to train."—S. D. Algaire.

"Cannot praise your track too much, never raised a better."—T. G. Bell.

"I don't think there is any 1-2 mile track in the North West that can beat it and you have good stables too."—C.C. Emmett.

"I think it is an ideal track. There is not a track that can surpass it from Winnipeg to Edmonton. I think it will be one of the fastest tracks in the N. W."—H. A. Colton.

"Best track I have raced over this year."—McAbbe.

National Steel Ranges

Have been thoroughly tested with Test and Time. They are not a new creation—110 of these Ranges are in use in this district. All customers agree that they are perfect bakers, with small amount of fuel. Moreover, it is surprising the small amount of repairs that these Ranges require, proving that nothing but the best grades of steel are used in their construction.

Have you seen the "Canada." Prices are no higher than many inferior ranges.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE.

(There are no "No. 101's" published in the M.S. despatches now in the Record Office of the British Museum reveal the interesting fact that on more than one occasion the British Government obtained important French state secrets through an agent known to the British as "No. 101." Who this mysterious agent was, whether it was a man or a woman, why and how he or she successfully played the part of secret agent, has not yet been ascertained by the present writer, but it is clear that the secret was not a secret, for it is more than possible that they themselves did not know, that throughout they simply dealt with a cipher whose secret they never penetrated. It is, however, clear that "No. 101" was in a position to discover some of the most important secrets in the policy of the French Court, and that the British Government, through agents, was satisfied of the genuineness of the secrets for which it paid handsomely.—W.C.)

CHAPTER I.

One evening in the January of 1746, the critical year of the great Jacobite rising, a middle-aged gentleman, the private secretary of a Secretary of State, the very person as usual in the room of a house in Cleveland Row. The table at which he sat was littered with papers, but at the precise moment he had leaned back in his chair with a puzzled expression and his left hand in perplexity pushed his wig away.

"Extraordinary," he muttered, "most extraordinary!" The subject was apparently caused by an official letter in his hand—a letter marked "Most Private," which came from The Hague, and the passage which he had just read ran:

"I have the honor to submit to you the following important communication in cipher, received, through our agent at Paris, from 'No. 101.'"

On the table lay the cipher communication together with a decoded version which the secret agent had highly confidentially negotiated between the Jacobite party in Paris and the French King, Louis XV.

"No. 101," the secret agent murmured, scratching his head, "always 'No. 101.' It is marvellous, incredible. How the devil can it do this?"

But there was no answer to this question, save the fact which provoked it—that closely ciphered papers with its disquieting information so curious and mysteriously obtained.

"Ah," he jumped up and hastily straightened his wig. "Good evening to you."

The new-comer was a man of about five-and-thirty, tall, finely built, and of a muscular physique, with a face of considerable power. Most noticeable, perhaps, in his appearance was his air of disciplined reserve, emphasized by his strong mouth and chin, but at the same time, dark eyes, which looked you through and through with a strangely watchful innocence.

"There is work to be done, sir," he took the chair offered.

"Exactly. To-day we have received most gratifying and surprising information from our friend 'No. 101'—and we have the promise of more."

"Yes, the brief message has been spoken almost softly, but the eyes gleamed, as they roamed over the room."

"The communications from 'No. 101' have begun again," the secretary pursued, "that is interesting. The Secretary of State therefore desires me to send at once for you, the most trustworthy secret agent we have. In very few minutes Captain Statham of the First Foot Guards will be here."

"Sent. I think, from the Low Countries at the request of our agents at The Hague?"

"Ah, I see you are as well informed as usual. You are quite right. Are you?" he laughed, "ever wrong?"

The spy paused. The communications then from 'No. 101' concern the military operations' was all he said.

"Not yet, but almost certainly," he gave a promise they will. You know the situation. This will be a critical year for France, Great Britain, and her allies propose to make a great, an unprecedented effort; his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland will have the supreme command. Unhappily the French under the Maréchal de Saxe apparently promise to make even greater efforts. With such a general as the Maréchal against us we cannot afford to neglect any means, fair or foul, by which his Royal Highness can defeat the enemy."

"Then you wish me to assist 'No. 101' in betraying the French plans to our army under the Duke of Cumberland?"

"Not quite, the other replied: 'We cannot spare you as yet. But you have had dealings with this mysterious cipher, and we ask you to place all your experience at the disposal of Captain Statham.'"

"I agree most willingly," was the prompt answer.

"This curious 'No. 101,' continued the secretary slowly, "you do not know personally, I believe?"

"The other was looking at him carefully but with a puzzled air."

"I ask because—because I am deeply curious."

"I am as curious as yourself, sir. 'No. 101' is to me simply a cipher number, nothing more, nothing less."

"I feared so," said the secretary. "But it is not incredible! The information sent always proves to be accurate, but there is never a trace of how, why, or by whom it is obtained."

"That is so, Secretary," the condition on which alone we get it. We pay handsomely—we obtain the truth—and we are left in the dark."

"Shall we ever discover this secret, think you?"

"I am sure not." The tone was conviction itself.

"At this moment Capt. Statham was ushered in, a typical English gentleman, of middle age, of a ruddy countenance, blue-eyed, frankness and courage in every line of his handsome face and of his athletic figure. "Captain Statham," Mr. George Onslow of the Secret Service—the secretary began promptly, adding with a laugh as the two shook hands: "Ah, I see you have met before. I am not surprised. Mr. Onslow knows everybody and everything worth knowing. He gathered up a bundle of papers. That is the communication from 'No. 101' and the covering letter. And now, gentlemen, I will leave you to your business. He bowed and left the room. Onslow took the chair he had vacated and for a quarter of an hour Captain Statham and he chatted earnestly on the position of affairs in the Low Countries, and the war then raging from the Mediterranean to the North Sea, as the vast empire being made by the French for a great campaign in the coming spring, the military genius of the famous Maréchal de Saxe, the Austrian and Dutch allies of Great Britain, and the new English royal army, the policy of the French Court, and that the British Government, through agents, was satisfied of the genuineness of the secrets for which it paid handsomely.—W.C.)

"Communications," he wound up, "from this mysterious spy and traitor, 'No. 101,' are of the most important nature. They are, of course, always in cipher and they will reach you in the morning. You must, therefore, be at a lucky, a tavern wench—sometimes you will simply find them, say, in a room, or you may find them in a room. No one can tell how they get there, but never neglect them, however promising they may be. For they are never wrong—never! The genuine ones you will recognize by this mark—'Most Private'—and the others are simply a waste of paper. I have seen a letter marked 'Most Private' which came from The Hague, and the passage which he had just read ran:

"Laymen get stung as easily as other people," said one who practices in the criminal courts. "Here's what happened to me the other day. A friend of mine tipped me off that there was a case coming up in Special Sessions and it would be easy to get the defendant, a negro, free. 'There's a twenty in it for you,' he added. 'I've got another case on upstairs or I would take it myself.' 'Sure enough I got the fellow off and when we reached the corridor I politely intimated that I had heard there was a twenty awaiting me for my trouble. 'Sure thing, boss,' said the negro, diving into his pocket. 'It certainly ain't worth twenty, all right. With-out a smile he handed over two dimes.'—New York Sun."

It has Many Offices—Before the German soldier starts on a long march he rubs his feet with tallow for his first care is to keep his feet in good condition. If he knows that Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil would be of much better service he would throw away his tallow and pick up a few bottles of the Oil in his knapsack. There is nothing like it.

As an example of what men in the railroad business have to endure, a Corn dealer in the Seaboard relates that while he was passing through a coach a few days ago a woman stopped and asked him how far they were from Weldon. He replied that they were about 55 miles from Weldon. She then asked, "This side or the other side?"—Arlanet.

Are you a sufferer with corns? If you are, get a bottle of Hollaway's Corn Cure. It has never been known to fail.

The smallest coin in circulation is the Maltese grain, a bronze piece the size of a pencil tip, and worth one-sixth of a cent.

Medicines of This Class Do Not Cure—Their Effect Is Weakening. Nothing could be more cruel than to induce a weak, anemic person to take a purgative medicine in the hope of finding relief. Ask any doctor and he will tell you that a purgative taken when the system is weakened by the bowels, weakening the tender tissues, will tell you also that a purgative cannot possibly cure disease or build up bad blood, when the blood is weak and watery.

On arrival at the gate, fare inquired: "What's your fare, driver?" "Well, sir," said Pat, "the manest jinkinses I ever drove here gave me two shillings."

"Is that so?" exclaimed the gentleman, who was not a bit of a wag, "and a shilling to you, my man; I like the idea of breaking records."—Tatler.

Minard's Liniment Used by Physicians. One of the brightest and nicest little patients in the surgical ward of one of the city hospitals lay on her bed moaning with pain, says the Boston Post. She had just come to consciousness after a slight operation, and, though only five years old, was exhibiting heroic nerve.

Yet she couldn't keep from occasional low cries expressing her pain. She was a girl of child who waxes about all things to give trouble, and when one of the nurses stopped for her and she thought—looked a bit reproachfully down at her, she explained, between the paroxysms, with a pitiful little smile.

"Oh, Miss Smith, I can't help it; I can't help it! I'm not used to operations."

"Isn't that lovely?" said an enthusiastic nurse, who, when the prima donna had finished her principal part.

"Perfectly charming!" replied the young lady addressed. "I never saw such a beautiful white satin in my life. How much do you think it would cost a yard?"—Laf.

Used PSYCHINE 30 YEARS AGO. "Years ago I was almost a physical wreck, and was suffering with lung trouble. Friends and neighbors thought I would never get better. I began to despair myself. Long faith in my physician, I procured another one who recommended the use of PSYCHINE. It was surprising beyond description the effect it had. I seemed to gain with every dose. Inside of two weeks I was able to attend to my household again. There were no symptoms of consumption about me now."—MRS. HENDERSON, St. John, N.B.

"Tipping" in Europe. European servants are entitled, to tips as an assured part of their income. At the hotels the theory is that the landlord furnishes a guest a private room and the use of the public rooms, best food, light, food and dishes, but no mental service. For convenience he keeps at hand a corps of servants who will respond to the guest's summons, not at his expense. In old times travelers were attended by their own servants to wait on them. The modern custom echoes the ancient. The traveler no longer carries with him a retinue of servants, because he can hire temporarily those of the landlord. The customary fees are the payment. To avoid feeling is really to cheat the servants, who need all they can get, heave knows. A chambermaid at the best hotels receives as wages only about $2 a month. Tipping servants in America is a regrettable imitation of the European custom without its resting on the reasonable basis of the foreign institutions.

Told Who He Was. The game warden of Colorado was walking out in the mountains on one occasion when he met a hunter with his gun. The official suggested that that ought to be a good country for hunting. "It certainly is," said the hunter proudly. "I killed one of the finest ducks yesterday I ever saw, and he weighed over two hundred." It was the season when deer may not be shot without subjecting the hunter to a heavy fine. "Well, that is a fine one," said the warden, "and you know who are talking about it? Being assured that he did not, the official said, 'Why, I am the chief game warden of Colorado.' The hunter was only taken aback for a moment when he asked, 'And do you know who you are talking to?' The warden didn't know. "Well, sir," said the hunter, "I am a manufacturer of the hardware dealer asked. 'No, sir,' was the reply; 'I'm a burglar.'"

Among the army of Blackpool carriage drivers is an Irishman noted for his native wit. It stood him in good stead one day however. Pat was engaged by a gentleman to drive to a hydrophobic establishment.

On arrival at the gate, fare inquired: "What's your fare, driver?" "Well, sir," said Pat, "the manest jinkinses I ever drove here gave me two shillings."

"Is that so?" exclaimed the gentleman, who was not a bit of a wag, "and a shilling to you, my man; I like the idea of breaking records."—Tatler.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19th, 1907. CHAS. S. HYMAN RETIRES.

Hon. Charles S. Hyman has resigned his portfolio as minister of public works, and will retire into private life immediately.

He has written to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, insisting that his resignation be accepted, and that he be allowed to seek retirement. The letter is dated from Los Angeles, California, and is different from any other communication he has had with the government, in that it absolutely demands that his resignation be accepted.

And his resignation will be accepted, for those in the confidence of the government have come to understand that Sir Wilfrid Laurier proposes to clean house immediately after his return from the old land. In fact, before he left for the imperial conference, it was given out quietly that his stay abroad would afford an excellent opportunity for the weak vessels of his cabinet to either mend their ways or get broken.

For the past six months men of prominence in the Liberal party in the various provinces of the Dominion have been coming to see Sir Wilfrid Laurier and tell him of the condition of the party in their districts. Each missionary, without exception, has been cordially received by the premier, and invited to open his heart. Some plain speaking has been indulged in, and the premier repeatedly has been told that the Liberal party is dissatisfied with its representation in the cabinet and solicitous of the welfare of the party.

With the passing of Hon. C. S. Hyman, the political atmosphere is more or less cleared, and a thorn in the side of true Liberalism is torn out. While ill-health is the excuse given by Mr. Hyman for resigning, still there is little doubt in the minds of those who know that the real reason for his getting out is a demand from the Premier of Canada that he retire.

The Turf.

The Toronto Mail in an article on racing says "As a rule, the turf in Canada has been unfortunate in its apologetics. Almost invariably they have contrived to entangle the main issue with other matters about which there is difference of opinion. Regarding the sport of horse-racing, there is no difference of opinion in this country, nor indeed in any Anglo-Saxon community. Not one man in a hundred wants to abolish horse-racing; not one man in a hundred wants to make it impossible for a horseman to back his horse. Ninety-nine men out of a hundred would favor any rational movement that will prevent the turf from continuing as a means for parting the fool and his money; and the crusade against betting is the expression of this strong desire, not the evidence of a wish to hamper sport. In several States of the Union horse-racing has been forbidden, and it has been predicted that if the present public sentiment continues for ten years, racing will be possible only in New York and Kentucky. This means that in the United States, with the exception of the two States named, the turf has become so intimately connected with raceability and blackguardism that to destroy the vermin it has been found necessary to drown the dog. Foot-racing in itself is about as straightforward and legitimate a sport as it is possible to imagine; but crookedness has ruined it. Wrestling and prize-fighting, once patronized by the best men in the country, have become shunned or illegal primarily because of the tactics of their followers. If horse-racing joins them, it will be because those in whose hands to the governance of the sport are unworthy of their responsibilities. With those gentlemen who are at the head of turf affairs in this province there is general satisfaction; but they must remember that attacks upon some of the customs that have grown up about the turf are not inspired by abhorrence of race horses or racing. Purged of some of the undesirable features that have become attached to it, the turf is a flower that should bloom in Canada as sturdily as in England."

Cut in Two by Saw.

Edmonton, June 11.—Word has been received from Dunvegan of a fatal accident that befell James Higgins, foreman in charge of the sawmill of A. Brick, M.P.P. The unfortunate man lost his balance and fell into a circular saw and was instantly cut in two. His native place was Creighurst, Ont.

News of the fatality was brought to Athabasca Landing by E. C. Beagle and J. H. McCallum, who came down from Lesser Slave Lake by steamer.

Victor Houde Is Acquitted.

Edmonton, June 11.—After being out for about 60 minutes the jury who have been hearing the charge against Victor M. Houde of murdering George Wood in a shaft in this city on the night of April 4, returned the verdict of "Not guilty." A suppressed murmur of approval and relief swept through the crowded court and a look of relief passed over the prisoner's face as the verdict was read.

Houde's Story.

The chief point of interest at the trial last night was a testimony of the accused. He stated that on the evening of April 4, Wood, who was very drunk, came down to the shaft and abused Houde, striking him heavy blows and rendering him unconscious. Later in the evening after the accused had recovered, Wood came in again and hit Houde and the accused in self-defence picked up a chair and struck Wood on the head. He then went up town and remained away all night. He was very much surprised when he found out next day that the blow had killed Wood.

Judge's Charge.

In charging the jury Judge Scott intimated that no charge of murder could be brought against Houde. The only charge that might be made was that of manslaughter. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty of manslaughter and the prisoner was accordingly dismissed.

EPWORTH LEAGUE AD- DRESS.

At the regular meeting of the Epworth League of the Methodist Church held on the 3rd. inst.
L. J. Porter read the following paper on the subject "How to realize the presence of Christ."

The first verse of our Epworth League lesson for this evening is "If ye love Me keep My commandments."

Christ groups all duties into one word when he gives this command "Love" he makes two claims one is the right to command and the other is the right to be loved, and the way to obey his command is to meet his claim to be loved. Christianity is but love for Christ, and love for him is a duty as it is the privilege and joy of every Christian.

In the Bible Christ gives us
many messages of comfort.
"The Bible," said Coleridge,
"is the only Book that ever finds me" and his words have been verified in the experience of multitudes of Christians.
Other channels of thought run dry, but this fountain of truth is inexhaustible, for every mood
of mind, for every perplexity, emergency or trial there is some fitting message for us in Christ's teachings. In the 55th Psalm is one of special help. "Cast thy burden on the Lord, and another one "My grace is sufficient for thee" which I think is found in the Apostle Paul's writing.

One of the most pleasing features in the character of the Apostle
Paul was his cheerful disposition.
No matter how severely that storm beat or how hopeless the outlook appeared, he never lost faith but looked on the bright side. The consciousness of the presence of Christ in everything relating to his life ever kept him from doubting or fearing when to others all hope seemed gone.
The cheerful tone of his letters written in prison gives us a glimpse into his life and character and shows us how closely he lived to God and when our faith reaches out and keeps in touch with our Heavenly Father and every need is supplied. If we take Christ into our life at the corner stone our building will be safe and sure. In the New Testament he is called the corner stone of the great spiritual temple which is rising through all the ages. To have him as the ground of our hope and trust and our confidence is to build on the eternal rock.

Many in the garden know him not. The more useful way did not recognize their companion. Is it not so that sometimes we also miss the presence of Christ along our sorrowful way? Ministering to those around us is a good method of communion and they who give themselves to Christ brethren are living in his very presence. The loving human sympathy of Christ
his tender treatment of his uncomprehending disciples, his completeness of self sacrifice, his sinless life, his death, his glorious resurrection and his promised return are subjects upon which we should meditate much. If we would realize his presence with out real and personal intercourse between the Lord and his people the later can know nothing of the peace and joy which God gives, or of the power in living that is the heritage of the Christian.
While we speak Christ hears, before we call he answers, we may have to wait for many of his gifts but never for Himself.
Those who show most of the likeness and disposition of the Saviour in the every day life and characters are those to whom he is a familiar friend. If we would know the presence of Christ in our hearts we should dwell much in thought upon that peerless life. He lived while in Palestine call to mind his unselfishness and his constant self forgetfulness in service for others and his self sacrifice in his triumphant death.

Then our lives will assume some what of the beauty and nobility of that life which began in Galilee and was laid down for us on Calvary.

A SAD TRAGEDY.

Last night's accident resulting in the death of Mr. S. C. Williams of Chetoka, Kansas, was the culmination of a tragedy which has spread over some months.
Mr. Williams with his wife and two children came to Alberta in the spring and settled near Innisfail on the third of March. He subsequently suffered a slight stroke of paralysis, which affected his mind. His physicians having advised returning home, Mr.
Williams and family came down to Calgary Tuesday from Innisfail.
After the arrival of the train at 17.15 Mr. Williams left his wife at the station and went out for a walk. At six o'clock she became anxious about him, and asked the police to try to find him.
They did not succeed however.
No 98 pulled out of Calgary this morning about forty minutes late, at 1.15, and when about three miles out of the city, while running at full speed, the engineer suddenly noticed the figure of a man in the middle of the track ahead of him. There wasn't time to bring the train to a stop,
and Mr. Williams was struck, being instantly killed. The train was stopped and the body taken on to Langdon. Word was received there that Mr. Williams was missing, and it was discovered that he was the dead man. He will be brought in on
No. 1 this afternoon.

Mrs. Williams was temporarily without money and had to sit up in the station all night till a couple of newspaper men, learning her sad story, arranged with a hotel
for her accommodation. - Calgary

Verity Plows - and others.

A famous general once said "There are only two tunes. One is God save the King and the other isn't."
In speaking of plows it would not be out of the way to say, "There are two kinds of plows one is the Verity and the other isn't." Verity plows are in a class by themselves, and in a class which can be depended on in all conditions. Shares and boards are made of highest grade soft centre steel, hardened by the refrigerator process, and as result bottoms are as hard as glass and will scour in any soil.

Our sovereign 16 inch breaker cannot be equalled on the market to-day for strength, lightness in draft and for good work. We have sold a great many of these plows and we have a lot more to go, so come in and get a plow to do your breaking with. We give an absolute guarantee with everything we sell, and we live up to our guarantee.
See this plow first.

LAND ROLLERS AND LAND PACKERS.

We have been told that the out worm is putting in an appearance again in some localities, and we all know the damage done last year by these worms, so watch out that they do not get at your crops. One of the surest ways of getting rid of this pest is to use a roller or land packer.
Several of our customers last year took this means of getting rid of the worms and they sure did it. Come in and see these rollers and packers whether you want to buy or not.

Remember our add of last week re plows & rakes.
Next week we intend to draw your attention to a few binder points.

Killed in Montana.

Thomas T. Pearson, formerly of Red Deer, was killed at Libby, Montana, Thursday 13th of June. No particulars. Councillor P. Pidgeon received a dispatch to that effect from White Fish, Montana, yesterday. The telegram asked to have father located and to advise disposition of remains. Young Tom Pearson will be remembered by all old timers of ten years ago. He worked for nearly every farmer in the district and did jobs about town and was noted for his romantic proclivities. Captain Keast took out the telegram to Mr. Pearson, the step-father of deceased, yesterday.

Found Dead.

Word was brought to town by Captain Keast on Monday that a man named Christopher Vogt, about 50 years old, residing about eight miles east had shot himself with a double barrel shot gun, and was lying dead in a shack where he had been living for two or three months with William Dow.

Deceased was a bachelor and had been cutting cordwood for William. Richard Dow. He came here from the States months ago, living with Dow. He came to town on Saturday last and purchased some groceries at Phillips Bros., and drank freely. W. Beckley gave them a lift as far as his place on their way home. Deceased was sick all night. Sunday morning Dow went to Capt. Keast's, returning at eleven o'clock, and after went to Pearson's and got back about seven o'clock when he found Vogt had shot himself with the gun. The police were at once notified.

Chief Rothnie telegraphed to police headquarters, Calgary, Sunday night, at eleven o'clock the facts of the case. It was not until yesterday that a policeman went out to view the remains.

An inquest was held yesterday afternoon, Dr. Collison acting coroner, when a verdict was brought in to the effect that deceased came to death by a gunshot wound, caused by his own hand. The funeral took place from Stone's undertaking parlors yesterday afternoon, Canon Hincliffe officiating.

The beautiful silver cup, won by the fire ladders at Calgary, has been on exhibition in the window of the Gaetz-Cornett Drug Company's store for some days. It stands on a large ebony base and is fine enough to do honor to a Russian Grand Duke's table. The boys naturally feel proud of their trophy.

At an extraordinary general meeting of the Red Deer Exhibition Association, Limited, in the fire hall, Monday afternoon last a resolution was passed that the directors of the association be and are hereby empowered to borrow not more than the sum of $6,000 (six thousand dollars) from the bankers of the Association.

A public meeting will be held in the Oddfellows Hall Thursday evening, June 26 at 8:30 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting is to take steps towards the starting of a free library, reading room and gymnasium in Red Deer. If inaugurated such a movement will be of untold value to the young manhood of the town. Let us have a full hall and start the work with enthusiasm.

The fourth annual convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Western Canada is now in session at Prince Albert, the dates being 18th, 19th and 20th of June. The delegates in attendance from Red Deer are Messrs. Quimette, Crawford and Munro. Councillor Bottrell had intended going, and had prepared a paper to be read at the convention, but at the last moment was detained owing to the collapse of the warehouse of Mr. Latimer, his partner, at Calgary, making it impossible for that gentleman to come north to take charge of the business in his absence.

The proceedings will be watched with much interest by western towns as matters of great importance will be discussed by the meeting. The Calgary Board will introduce a resolution to form two separate boards, one for Alberta and one for Saskatchewan. This should meet with favor as there are questions of vital importance to each province which can best be dealt with by each province separately than by the present system.

The Red Deer delegates will introduce the question of agricultural colleges, advocating the establishment of same in the west.

Rev. Mr. Goodfield will leave for Edmonton to-morrow to attend the Baptist Provincial Convention which will be in session for about a week.

Read A. E. Short's ad in another column. Mr. Short's stock is first class and any one wanting a good bull will make no mistake in purchasing from him.

L. I. D. 19 T. 4.

The Council of L. I. D. 19 T. 4 met in Red Deer on June 14. Present Messrs Hives, Reay and Cade. Owing to the absence of chairman McConnell it was moved by Reay seconded by Cade that A. Hives take the chair. Carried.

The minutes of the last meeting of council held March 23rd were read and approved. The following correspondence was laid before the Council.

From the Department of Works saying that the Survey asked for at last meeting would be looked after this summer also that information in regard to all sub-divisions could be had from the Land Titles Office.

From C. J. B. Ward in regard to state of road between sections 20 & 29, 37 & 28. Referred to Council of that Division.

From the Willison Stationery Co. re subscriptions to the Western Municipal News. No action taken.

From D. N. Leland, Winnipeg, re land held by the Presbyterian church.

The Sec'y distributed copies of the new Local Improvement ordinance also pay sheets and extracts from the assessment roll to each of the councillors present. It was moved by A. Hives, seconded by W. J. Reay, that A. Heyworth be relieved from payment of taxes for this year on account of his loss by fire. Carried.

The Piper Brick and Tile Company's account for tile supplied in the fall of 1905, was laid before the council by councillor Code. After some discussion the council decided to not pay the account as they had not authorized the purchase of the said tile. The council adjourned to meet at the call of the Sec'y.
